

L ABOARD FOR CERULEAN

Party Will Mingle With
The Press People
To-day.

PRESENTS FOR THE LADIES

Cigars and Music Galore
For all the Editors.

A large crowd of business men and many ladies will visit Cerulean today in honor of the Kentucky Press Association.

The crowd will take along the third Regiment Concert Band, plenty of cigars for the men and candy and flowers for the ladies.

Hon. John C. Duffy will deliver an address on the subject "Why we are here."

The visit is in appreciation of the presence of the newspaper men in this end of the state.

The party will be a big and enthusiastic one and arrangements have been made for dinner for all. The railroad will give a special rate of 50 cents for the round trip.

To Cerulean To-day.

Train leaves 11:30 a. m. Returns 6:30 p. m. Rate 50 cents, round trip. Arrangements have been made for dinner for all who go.

SIGHT SEEING VISIT

Clarksville Citizens to the City Tuesday.

A delegation of officials and citizens from Clarksville came over in automobiles Tuesday, the object of their visit being to inspect the work done by the new road machines on the Clarksville pike. In the party were County Judge Tyler, Major Hanner, George Bowling, James Bowling, W. A. Chambers, Jos. Boilin, Brack Hatter, L. A. Bowers, Austin Play and others.

CORONATION CEREMONIES TO CLOSE TO-DAY.

LONDON, JUNE 21.

King George V and Queen Mary will be crowned tomorrow, closing the program of several days.

The King and Queen last night entertained the visiting and English royalties, the foreign representatives to the coronation, members of the British Government and others with a banquet at Buckingham Palace. A gorgeous Shakespearan ball followed.

HOPKINSVILLE MAN

In Big Land Deal Out in California.

W. S. Withers, of San Francisco, and J. A. Elston, of Berkeley, have bought the old Sturgis holdings in Contra Costa county, comprising something like 2,000 acres of land in one body. This property is noted for its many attractive features.

The new owners contemplate immediate subdivision of this large acreage into three, five and ten acre tracts. The purchase price is not given, but it is understood that the consideration was in the neighborhood of $150 per acre.

Extensive plans for decoration and improvements involving the expenditure of $25,000 are immediately contemplated by the new owners, who claim that they will introduce some novel features in their method of subdividing the property and particularly in the manner by which they will offer it to the investing public for villa sites and small acreage suburban homesteads.

The new Oakland and Antioch electric railroad, a portion of which is now in operation, will next year be operating to Oakland, from which point it will be 30 minutes to the property.—San Francisco Call.

Save Trouble.

You will certainly oblige us greatly if you will have the collector of laundry tell you who he represents before letting him have your work. Packages are being lost, others we have taken orders for and are calling on our competition for. We want others to have the work, if it is not intended for us, and all we want is what our customers want us to have; we are satisfied the way our patrons are sticking to us. Respectfully,

T. L. METCALFE,
Prop. Hopkinsville Steam Laundry, French Dry Cleaning Works.

FINGERS TORN OFF

By Explosion of a Cap Used in Blasting.

Cooper Weeks, son of Mrs. Willie Weeks, lost three fingers and a thumb last Monday afternoon, by the explosion of a percussion cap. Young Weeks, Cyrus Radford and Christy Smith were walking along the L. & N. Railroad, where the reconstruction work is going on. They found several percussion caps, which they took home. They went to the tennis courts, on Eighteenth street, to explode the caps. They did not know what the caps were, and began experimenting. Cyrus Radford set a match to one of the caps, and it exploded. Cooper Weeks began to carve another cap, with his knife, when it exploded. Several girls and boys were in the lot at the time, and all began screaming. Weeks was the coolest of all. He called to Mrs. W. A. Radford, and asked her to call up Dr. Ketchum. Before Mrs. Radford could do this, however, Weeks, Radford and Smith got into a buggy, and drove to Dr. Ketchum's office.

Upon examination, Dr. Ketchum sent the other boys away, and chloroforming Weeks, he amputated the thumb and fore-finger, completely, and the next two fingers above the first joint, on the left hand.

MRS. KATE N. FAXON

Wedded Last Night to Mr. I. D. Ruffner, of Guthrie.

Mr. I. D. Ruffner, proprietor of the Guthrie Mill, and Mrs. Kate N. Faxon, of this city, were married last night at the home of Mrs. G. A. Payne, the bride's daughter, on Alumni Avenue. The ceremony was performed by E. D. H. D. Smith, of the Christian church. The bride's former husband was the late W. H. Faxon, a leading tobaccoist and for years a member of the board of trustees of the Hopkinsville public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruffner left last night on the midnight train for Guthrie, where they will reside.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chances of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater,
but not if Electric Bitters be used,
as Robert Madison, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters.

BARKSDALE HAMLETT

EDUCATOR CANDIDATE FOR SU-PERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Democratic Party Will Demand as Its Candidate a Man Who is a Practical and Experienced Educator.

The first law of a democracy is the equalization of opportunity,
which means the equitable distribution of intelligence through an adequate provision of educational equipment.

There can appear no virtue in the cry of a "Square Deal" so long as there exists a monopoly of intelligence, in a state where society is composed of individuals equally endowed by nature, yet to the great masses of whom all the light of human achievement and the social heritage of truth are denied.

Through a permanently organized campaign for educational improvement, readjusted ideals must be converted into practical realities. Thus will the latent energies of society be set free and opportunity will indeed knock at the door of every home in Kentucky.

His Platform.

I stand specifically for: A school free and accessible to every child in every rural district in Kentucky.

BARKSDALE HAMLETT.

The improvement, sanitation and equipment of our rural schools, in accordance with the best modern standards.

Minimum seven months terms in every district.

A rational and effective compulsory attendance.

Practical course of study; agricultural and the domestic and mechanical arts and sciences.

Good roads and consolidation
where practical.

Teachers of scholarship, character and personality.

County high schools, accessibly located in every county.

Improved facilities for the county superintendent's office.

Liberal enlargement and maintenance of our normal schools and state university as component parts of our public school system.

Readjustment of our system of finance to effect larger results on a more economic basis.

Personal leadership in the field on the part of the state superintendent.

Success Comes Only at End of Effort.

The subject of this sketch is a man of strong individuality, keen mentality, and a broad humanitarian spirit, whose interest in his fellow men is sincere, while his work is always actuated by a desire to advance the cause of education.
* * * * * He worked in the tobacco patch for the means with which to educate himself, and succeeded to the extent that he was graduated from the Handen-Sidney College of Virginia, with the Orator's medal of his class, at the age of nineteen.
* * * * * (From E. Polk Johnson's History of Kentucky, in publication.)

Endorsed by Educators and Press.

An ex-president of the Kentucky Educational association, one of its five original incorporators, and up to the present time a member of its board of directors. An ex-president of the Fourth Congressional District association; an ex-state board examiner. Began his career as teacher in Lyndland Academy, Hardin county, taught in the rural district and normal schools, Larue county; principal of the graded schools of Corydon, and principal of the Henderson high school, from which he now is the superintendent of the Hopkinsville public schools.

The Man For the Place.

Editor T. C. Underwood, president of the Kentucky Press association, in the Hopkinsville News Era:
"The Democratic party could look long and hard without finding a worthier or more competent candidate for the important office of state superintendent of schools. Mr. Ham-lett is a man who has always made good, and his career has been a lesson of energy, perseverance and honor. The state has no more enthusiastic and effective an advocate of education, nor the Democratic party
a more loyal supporter."

A Builder of Schools.

In another issue he has this to say:

"When Prof. Hamlett came to Hopkinsville, from Henderson, six years ago, as superintendent of the public schools, there were but two buildings. With the completion this year of the high school buildings, there will be six, at a cost of $200,- 000, and the faculty of twenty-three teachers has been increased to forty-six. * * * * * He is an orator of ability and in demand as an after-dinner speaker. * * * * * He is a popular member of the Elks, W. O. W.
and other fraternal organizations.
Prof. Hamlett is also superintendent of the First Baptist church Sunday-school, one of the largest in the state."

A Leader in Progressive Movement.

Prof. Hamlett, though only thirty-two years of age, has had thirteen years of successful experience as a teacher, rising by rapid promotions from teacher of a small county school at $30 a month to the splendid position he now holds at the head of the Hopkinsville school system, with more than 2,500 pupils and 40
teachers under his superintendency.
Under his direction the schools have been improved from year to year, until they are more than ever the pride of one of the most progressive cities of the state.

A clean, young and progressive teacher, who has all the elements of success in his make-up he is a man in every way capable of making an officer of whom the whole state would justly be proud.

A leader in every progressive movement, Barksdale Hamlett will help to redeem Kentucky in 1911, and will be the next superintendent of Public Instruction.—(Mayor
Chas. M. Meacham in the Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Master of School Problems.

From study and experience, he is master of the school problems of Kentucky and is particularly interested in the improvement of the common schools. The News knows no Democrat so thoroughly equipped at all points to make an ideal state superintendent, to advance the school interests proper of Kentucky, as Prof. Hamlett, and we would like to see him given the nomination without opposition.—(Elizabethtown
News.)

Friend to the Rural Schools.

Prof. Hamlett is a strong, intelligent friend to the cause of education and believes in a square deal from the smallest district to the most intelligent city in the country. He is certainly a friend to the common schools, believes in seven months'
terms, good roads and improved facilities for our schools in every respect.—(Mayfield Messenger.)

Strong Acquisition to the State Ticket.

Prof. Hamlett is in the foremost rank of Kentucky's educators and is in every way thoroughly qualified for the honor he seeks. We predict a successful candidacy for him and believe he will be a strong acquisition to the next state ticket.—
(Madisonville Journal.)

Solid Backing of Home People.

Hamlett stands at the very top among the educators of our state.
His friends predict with all candor that he will go into the fight with the solid backing not only of his home county, but the entire second congressional district.—(Daily Leader, Fulton.)

An Ideal Superintendent.

Barksdale Hamlett, of Hopkinsville, is the most advanced, intelligent and capable man in the state for superintendent of public instruction. He knows the needs of the state in all educational matters and would make an ideal state superintendent of public instruction.—(H.
A. Summers in The Elizabethtown
News.)

Prof. Hamlett possesses all the qualifications to make the state an ideal superintendent.—(Cadiz Record.)

The Man of the Hour.

As he is seen by the Ballard County Yeoman:

"The most casual reader can see in him the man of the hour, the man in whom all people of all parties can graciously unite and work for the good of the state."
His whole life is every day

gy, his wonderful brain power are wrapped in this, the greatest work to be done in Kentucky. Though yet young, he is undoubtedly the best equipped man for this office the state has ever produced."

Determination and Success in His Face

A young man who seems to have an ambition to accomplish something worth while in the educational field, and judging from that determined expression in his frank open countenance, he is going to succeed in the undertaking.—(Daily Bulletin, Maysville.)

A Worthy and Competent Leader.

His work at Hopkinsville is a monument to his ability as a school worker and organizer. He is abundantly qualified for the high office which he seeks, and his broad platform embraces the very best in educational endeavor. He is a worthy man in every respect, having worked himself up from a poor boy. Already he has pledged to him almost the solid vote of the teachers of the state, and all interested in the improvement and advancement of Kentucky's educational facilities, see in him a worthy and competent leader for the accomplishment of these things.—(Hartford Herald.)

Successful in Great Undertakings.

He is eminently qualified for the position which he seeks, and his record as an educator has been one of uninterrupted success. It is due to him that the handsome new Christian county and Hopkinsville high school is now a permanent reality, having been erected under the Sullivan law, at a cost of $100,000.—
(The News-Democrat, Paducah.)

Right Man in the Right Place.

We believe as state superintendent of public instruction, he would be the right man in the right place.—
(Calloway County Gazette.)

Mr. Hamlett believes in the equalization of opportunities, and his greatest wish in his work is to make opportunity knock at the home of every school child in Kentucky. We like Mr. Hamlett, and unlike most politicians he improves on acquaintance. In fact, he is not a politician, he is a school man who is well equipped for the office.—(The Breckinridge News, Cloverport.)

Making a Fine Race.

He is a man of infinite ability and capacity and stands upon a platform that neither trims nor tergiversates;
that begs no question nor evades a single issue. Mr. Hamlett, a man of individuality and ability, an educator and orator, is conceded to be the logical man for the place and is endorsed by leading educators and the press. Prof. Hamlett is out for the Democratic nomination and is making a vigorous canvass; he stands for progression and has the unqualified endorsement of his home people.

He has the credentials of a sturdy Democrat and bears the highest qualifications of an ideal superintendent.

Eminently qualified for the position sought, we believe him to be
"the man" for superintendent of our state schools.

Prof. Hamlett is a strong friend to the cause of advanced education
and believes in a square deal from the smallest district to the most progressive city in the country. He is a friend to the common schools of the state, is a clean, sound and energetic teacher who has all the elements of success in his make-up and is a man in every way capable of making an officer of whom the whole state would be justly proud.

It is hoped that Mr. Hamlett will have no opposition before the Democratic primary, for he is so thoroughly Democratic and clean in his views, so well equipped from all angles, that antagonism would be almost unjustifiable.

Mr. Hamlett has given a good account of himself, and his work at Hopkinsville is a monument to his ability as a school worker and organizer. He has made more than good there and can make good at the head of Kentucky's school affairs.
If you want to know what Barksdale Hamlett stands for, just follow carefully the creed of the man as promulgated by himself.—(Henderson Journal.)

In the Lead.

Barksdale Hamlett, of Hopkinsville, continues in the lead for the Democratic nomination for Superintendent of Schools. His superior qualifications for the office give him a decided advantage over both his opponents, who are not active school men. The people of the State are awakening to the fact that to elect a lawyer to the agricultural department or a farmer to the superintendency of schools would be sheer folly, and they are lining up in this section at least for Mr. Hamlett mainly because he is an eminent, active educator and has made a success in his chosen line of work.—The Somerset
Journal.

PAT HAD A PICKET FENCE

Something About Waist High Around the Place, After Ten Years of Marriage.

J. Burke, engineer maintenance of way of the Erie road, relates this story of the chance meeting of two section foremen who had worked on the same division as navvies years before and started in to celebrate their reunion as best fitted the occasion.

"They do tell you're married, Mike," said one section boss to the other.

"And well they may say it," returned the other, proudly. "It's going on these ten years since I set up housekeeping."

"More power t'ye," heartily replied the friend. "And"—here he swept his hand about him waist high—"I suppose you'll be after having something about this high about the place?"

"I have so," was Patrick's answer. "And what is it?" Mike continued. "A picket fence," said Pat. "And it's the natest fence in the village."—Cleveland Leader.

A CORAL PIPE.

While the U. S. S. Iowa was off Barbados a few years ago a sailor who was amusing himself fishing for sharks, brought up from the depths a long "churchwarden" pipe that evidently had been lying at the bottom of the sea for a hundred years or more. It was unbroken and had either been accidentally dropped overboard or washed out of some old wreck. The coral insects had seized upon it and covered the long stem with delicate lacelike branches and the bowl with fine "vermicelli" work. So completely was it concealed with the coral coating that it was impossible to determine the original material of the pipe. Oddly enough, the inside of the bowl had been left untouched and still showed the stains of fire and nicotine.

TRAVELS WITH TOMBSTONE.

There is something uncanny in the idea of a man carrying his own tombstone with him in his travels. It has been left to an American missionary to distinguish himself in this direction. He recently arrived in Liverpool on the Mauretania from New York, and with characteristic Yankee hustle—he wanted to get the quickest route to Uganda—he immediately embarked on the Orita, which left Liverpool a few days ago. It was only when he got on board that the tombstone excited attention, and the sepulchral slab aroused much curiosity among the passengers. Evidently he has "grave" anticipations of his missionary work in Uganda.

DUCKS LIKE DANDELIONS.

The dandelion problem has been solved at last. A Laklin man discovered by accident a way to get rid of them. His lawn was fairly taken with dandelions. Recently while he was absent from home a bunch of ducks belonging to a neighbor wandered into his yard and charged on the "greens."

By nightfall there wasn't a dandelion left, and the yard is now covered with a fine coat of grass.—Kansas City Journal.

HE WAS FORGIVEN.

"Silly boy," she said, "why did you become offended? Though my words were severe, you might have seen that I was smiling."

"Well," he replied, magnanimously, "your mouth is so small I didn't notice it."

LADY IS HEAVY CONSUMER

She is Supported by the Toll of Others, Who Acquiesce Cheerfully to the Condition.

Economically the lady is supported by the toll of others, but while this is equally true of other classes of society, the oddity of her case consists of the acquiescence of those most concerned. The lady herself feels no uneasiness in her equivocal situation, and the tollers who support her do so with enthusiasm. She is not a producer; in most communities productive labor is by consent unladylike. On the other hand, she is the heaviest of consumers.

The women of the working classes have been saved by their work itself. In the shop and the factory they have learned what the nursery can teach. But the lady has had no social training whatever; the noticeable weakness of her play at bridge is a tendency to work for her own hand. As the gentleman decays, the lady survives as the strongest evidence of his former predominance. Where he set her, there she stays. One after another the fabrics that supported her have tottered, but she remains, adapting herself to each new set of circumstances as it arises. It is possible that an advancing social sentiment will extinguish her altogether, but she can never be forgotten.

AT 60 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

How the Intense Cold of Winter in the Far Northwest Affects Man and Animals.

"I asked an Alaskan pioneer who was crossing to his old home in Sweden what happened when the thermometer goes down to 60 and 80 degrees below zero," said Marshall J. Taylor of Seattle, Wash. "At 60 degrees below," he said, "the exposed ears, hands or nose will freeze in going a quarter of a mile under ordinary circumstances; but the children go and come from school as usual without suffering from the cold provided their faces and hands are protected."

"They soon get used to it. But caution must be used to avoid drawing the cold air into the lungs, and it is dangerous to breathe through the month. More die from pneumonia brought on by freezing the lungs in that way than from any other form of exposure. Horses are protected by breathing bags, which extend down from the nose of the animal about eighteen inches and are open at the bottom. The breath which is exhaled warms the air in the bag before it is inhaled and drawn into the lungs. And men wear a 'parky' or headress which extends over the face and affords similar protection."

"In the Canadian districts the Northwest Mounted police regulate the treatment of horses on the freight wagons and stage lines in a most humane manner, so as to prevent them from suffering in this way."—Washington Herald.

Roman Bricks.

When the preparations for rebuilding the Campanile in Venice were undertaken the archaeologists were afforded an opportunity to make some interesting studies of the bricks.

It was found that they had been used in arches, fortifications, the tops of walls and in other ways before they were built into the Campanile, and that they were not Venetian but Roman bricks.

These ancient bricks were made in silices, for in many the layers could be seen undisturbed. It is said that bricks made this way can bear a greater weight than modern bricks.

The bricks examined were of the first century. One of them bore the imprint of a horseshoe, which may prove that Romans used a horseshoe like ours although it is generally believed that their horseshoes were strapped on, not nailed.—Harper's Weekly.

Had Lost His Chance.

Years ago when the "Panhandle" railroad was in course of construction its progress was a matter of great interest to the people of the region, says the Youth's Companion. A farmer who sold provisions to the contractors often reached the place where the men were at work at meal time. He was greatly impressed at their voracity. The work was hard and when the dinner bell rang every man made a dash for the table and before one could believe it possible the food had disappeared. One day a workman on his way to the table tripped on the root of a tree and fell. He lay quite still, making no attempt to rise. The farmer rushed to him in great concern. "Are you badly hurt?" he asked. "No," answered the man. "Well, why don't you get up and go to dinner?" "No use," returned the other, sadly. "It's too late now."

Mainz Cathedral in Danger.

The famous Mainz cathedral, one of the oldest and most interesting in Europe, is stated to be in serious danger, owing to the action of underground water. Special drainage operations have before been carried out with a view to removing the danger, but apparently the results have not been lasting, water having again collected, and it is feared that the effects on the foundations of the cathedral will be disastrous. It is now proposed to proceed without delay with the work of strengthening the foundations, not only of the cathedral, but also of several other old buildings, including the ducal castle.

HOW PARIS REPORTERS WRITE

Specimens of What the English Call Journalism Culled From the French Newspapers.

"Litterature" is the agreeable name coined by M. Adrien Valvy, humorist-in-ordinary to the Gaulois, for what in English is called "journalism," and he quotes a few good specimens of "litterature." "This man, wrapped in the dread but necessary mantle of social justice, seemed at the moment truly a pillar of society, as in the picture graven by the philosopher's burning pen," wrote a picturesque reporter. Life was describing an execution, and the pillar of society was the executioner. Another, or perhaps the same, reporter went to Asnières on a cold day.

"Ah! the cold that morning in the streets of Asnières! Along the pavement the water lay, still numbed with the cold. At street corner, where the wind whistled more bitingly, were spread large splashes of ice. By the Seine it was terrible. With a steamer of smoke like the white feather of Icarus IV's helm rising from its roof, the Fellicite crossed the river. The Fellicite! Ah, what a warm and comfortable name was the ferry boat."

Here is the graceful picture: "It was after lunch! The hour of toasts was long since past. Mme. G. rose. She laughed. 'Ladies and gentlemen, I have an idea,' she said, and laughed again. She bent her forehead, upon which blond curls played, and lifted it, laughing again. It amused her to be making a speech."

M. Vely warrants that all these specimens are authentic.—Paris Correspondent London Telegraph.

THOSE FAMILIAR PHRASES

Expressions That Are Nearly Always to Be Found in Novels Written by Women.

Faces are "proud," and ladies with an imperfect nose have "a pure, proud, lovely woman's face, with glorious soul-lit eyes." Heroines are "slight." Chairs, on the other hand, are "deep," and after the accident of a sprained ankle you "almost carry Elsie's slight figure to a deep chair."

In the important matter of costume, emotional dresses are worn, and virginal thoughts go with white frocks. "Clinging white draperies" are essential to the heroine and "colors" are not worn.

Eyes are extremely significant. The heroines have "glorious dark-blue soul-lit womanly eyes." Ladies of a villainous type, on the other hand, are recognizable by their "green eyes." On encountering at a country house eyes "scintillating like emeralds," a bachelor should dispatch a telegram summoning himself to the deathbed of "his grand-aunt, Barbara Batley." In Chapter 34 Green Eyes are "unmasked." Heroines with "pansy eyes," ladies with orbs "misty with unshed tears," are delicate and unlike anything on earth. Though they have shortened their hair and lengthened their skirts, "as yet no thought of love has entered their bright young lives," and "all that seemed too far away from their young glorious thoughts."

Gentlemen with "the most expressive dark eyes," lead a harassed life.

Last Veteran of 1812.

The Buffalo Express, commenting on the assembly's action in killing a bill granting the use of armories to the Society of the War of 1812, asks if it can be possible that there are any survivors of that war who are able to go through the manual of arms. According to the records of New York's board of aldermen the metropolis buried at public expense with much pomp and ceremony the very last 1812 veteran about five years ago. He was Hiram Cronk of Oneida county, and his obsequies here cost $3,000 and the time of a regiment of National Guardsmen and half a thousand policemen. The odd part of the whole affair was that the appropriation was made and all arrangements were perfected some months before poor old Private Cronk—he was several years beyond the century mark—answered the last call.

The Servian Drum.

The men who play the big drums in the Servian army must have an easier lot than the drummers of other lands; for they do not have to carry their own drums.

In nearly all cases, instead of being slung in front of the man who plays it, the instrument is put on a small two-wheeled cart drawn by a large dog. Of course the drummer must play as he marches; but the dog is so well trained that there is no difficulty in doing this.

The animal keeps its place even through the longest marches, and the drummer walks behind the cart, performing on the instrument as he goes along. Each regiment is provided with two or three big drums; but few regiments have bands.—The Sunday Magazine.

A Narrow Escape.

"I was once urging a bachelor," says George Ade, "to remain at the club for a game of cards; but he insisted that he must call upon a lady friend. I finally said:

"Don't you know it is dangerous for a man to call upon a lady after he has been drinking?"

"That's so," said my bachelor friend as he took off his hat and topcoat. "Many a man has become engaged to be married in such circumstances."—The Sunday Magazine.

CURRENT COMMENT

CREAM OF NEWS COMPILED AND COLLECTED FROM ALL SOURCES

There were 1918 weddings in Chicago during the first half of June.

A Mexican boy, aged 18, who killed a merchant at Thorndale, Texas, was lynched by a mob.

The oldest Senator, Stephenson, of Wisconsin, is 82, while the youngest, Lea, of Tennessee, is nearly 50 years younger.

Kesling at McLeansboro on the 17th, made two base hits and a home run. In the same game Johnson struck out ten men.

In convention the socialist party of Hopkins county nominated Carr Hawkins as a candidate for representative of Hopkins county.

At Harrisburg Monday Yon struck out 15 men, made 2 two-base hits, gave no bases on balls and yielded only 5 hits, winning his game 6 to 2.

Senator F. E. Warren, of Wisconsin, who is 67 years old, is to be married in the near future to Miss Clara L. Morgan, of New York, who is only 35.

Melville Vaniman, who was with Walter Wellman when he tried to cross the Atlantic ocean in a dirigible balloon last year, will try again. He is backed by Frank A. Seiberling, millionaire of Akron, Ohio.

Indictments against two men, charged with criminal assault, were quashed at Lebanon because they were defective in that the word "felonious" was unintentionally omitted. Admittedly, indictments should be sufficiently specific to describe the person and the crime and to put the accused on notice of the offense with which he is charged; but no injustice would be done if the law permitted the amendment of such an indictment.—Paducah Sun.

It is easy enough to find an excuse when a criminal is to be shielded.

Every baby's first step is the most wonderful thing that ever happened.

Stanley's Third Son.

The Steel Trust investigation was stopped temporarily this morning by the arrival at 8 o'clock of a new son at the home of Congressman A. O. Stanley, in this city.

Mr. Stanley is on his way here from Washington and is expected to arrive Tuesday evening.

The young man was of the regulation weight and fineness and is doing nicely. There are now three children in the Stanley family, all being fine, lusty boys.—Henderson Journal.

Hurry Up for Wick.

Following the refusal of Attorney General Wickersham to furnish the House information as to whether criminal actions are being prepared against officials of the American Tobacco Company, Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, introduced a concurrent resolution directing Mr. Wickersham to proceed at once against these officers under the criminal section of the anti-trust laws.

Oldest Widow Dead.

Bakersfield, Cal., June 21.—Mrs. Mary Rodriguez, a native of Mexico, died here at the reputed age of 123 years, 7 months and 18 days. A fall, in which she sustained a fractured hip, compelled her to spend the last five months of her life in bed, but therefore she had hardly known a sick day and retained all her faculties. She long asserted that she was born Nov. 1, 1788.

TO FIGHT DEVIL.

Great Religious Movement On For 90 Cities.

New York, June 20.—To inaugurate a wave of religious enthusiasm which shall sweep over America, in two years evangelizing the cities in the greatest revival the world has ever known since the days of Finney, is the purpose of the men and "religion forward" movement, with headquarters at 124 East Twenty-eighth street.

It is not to be an emotional campaign, with sensational evangelists who seek to gather converts by hysterical methods, but a carefully planned and coolly conducted affair, in which ministers and laymen will work side by side.

Ninety or more cities in the United States and Canada are to be attacked. A general committee of 100 representative Christian men is to be selected, all of whom will agree to serve.

Brain Leaks.

One of the drawbacks of poverty is that there is no exclusiveness therein.

If it wasn't for our troubles we wouldn't know how to enjoy our pleasures.

The easiest thing in the world is to frame up an excuse for doing something we want to do.

As for gossip, we fail to see the difference between the one who retails it and the one who eagerly listens to it.

Maybe one reason we get so worked up at a bargain sale is that their husbands so seldom give them any money to spend.

Failures 20 Per Cent.

There were 4,632 divorces granted ill-mated wives and husbands in Indiana during 1910, according to a statistician. There were only 30,677 marriage licenses issued during the year—scarcely more than six times the number of divorces.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

Gruesome Scene in Gilbert's New Sketch, "The Hooligan," Presented in London.

London.—It would not be easy to imagine a more gruesome subject for a theatrical play than the last hours and confession of a murderer in a condemned cell. This was selected by Sir William S. Gilbert, the London dramatist, for a new sketch, "The Hooligan," presented a few nights ago at the London Coliseum.

The little play, horrible, unpleasant, begins with the discussion by the prison warders of the execution within a couple of hours of the prisoner asleep in his bed. They awake him from his broken slumber, witness his horror when he recollects that he has to die in two hours, and as he dresses give him reminiscences—to keep up his courage—of how pluckily other prisoners had gone to their doom. The pitious pleas of the wretched youth for a reprieve, his insistent cry that he had only intended to wound, not to kill, his sweetheart, were realistically agonizing. His descriptions of his night mares, his shrieks when he hears steps outside the cell door, added to the ghastliness of the whole business.

When at last the governor, chaplain and officials enter his cell, he lost control of himself. He shrieked for another half hour, half an hour with the clergyman. He crouched on the floor, clinging to a leg of a table. Then quietly the governor told him that a reprieve had been granted. There the gruesome side of the tale seemed to have ended. Not really so, however, for the strain of the news was too much for the man; he stood up, swung himself around and fell dead on the floor of the cell. When the curtain, in response to applause, was taken up, the dead body of the prisoner was seen lying on the bed.

Washington.—The navy department is trying very hard at present to discover the whereabouts of "A. W. Carmichael," the man who recently blew into Atlanta, Ga., and astounded every one by his reckless display of money. He flashed $500 and $1,000 bills as if they were one or two dollar silver certificates. He remained in Atlanta about a week, but no one ever lived any higher there than he did. He finally left with a pretty manicurist, who had taken his fancy.

He had not been gone long, however, before queries from the navy department about him began to arrive in Atlanta. Then the news came out

He Left With a Pretty Manicurist.

By means of the numbers of certain of his bills, Mr. "Carmichael" was declared to be none other than Edward W. Lee, the paymaster of the battleship Georgia, who stuck $45,000 of the ship's money in a safe and took French leave. Officers have been combing the eastern part of the country for him, but he has succeeded in eluding arrest.

$1,000 to See Coronation.

London.—It is officially announced that the royal procession on Friday, June 23, and Thursday, June 29, will follow the traditional and customary route to the south of both churches of St. Mary-le-Strand and St. Clement Danes. The following prices were supplied by an agent as being the average that is being asked for windows and seats on coronation day: First floor window, $1,000 to $2,500; second floor window, $500 to $1,000; third floor window, $400 to $500.

Don't Worry—Eat.

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Emma D. Looney, of this place, says: "I suffered misery for nearly eight years, but since taking Cardui I am much stronger, and I haven't missed a single meal. I hardly know how to express my gratitude." Don't worry about your symptoms—Cardui doesn't treat them. What you need is strength. Cardui helps you to get it. Take Cardui, because other tonics and medicines do not contain its peculiar and successful ingredients, imported especially for its manufacture. Half a century of success has stamped Cardui with the seal of public approval. During this time, Cardui has benefited a million women. Why not you? Try it, to-day.

Circuit of Fairs.

WIT OF DOUGLAS JERROLD HOW TO BE YOUNG AT 100

Some Specimens of the Humor and Kindliness of the Famous British Man of Letters.

Some stories of Douglas Jerrold, man of letters and wit, are given in W. Teignmouth Shore's "Charles Dickens and His Friends." Here are a few specimens of his wit: "That air always carries me away when I hear it," said a bore. "Can nobody whistle it?" asked Jerrold. A certain man went away to Australia, leaving his wife unprovided for in England; he treated her, said Jerrold, with "unremitting kindness." As an example of his kindlier wit may be repeated his answer when asked by Charles Knight to write his epitaph: "Good Knight," said Jerrold. He had a quaint, whimsical way of putting things. One bitterly cold night he was walking home with companions across Westminster bridge. "I blame nobody," he remarked, "but they call this May!" Of Jerrold's real kindness the following story is a pleasant confirmation. While living at Putney he had a brougham built for him. At the coach maker's one day he was looking at the immaculate varnish on the back of the vehicle. "Its polish is perfect now," he said, "but the urchins will soon cover it with scratches." "But, sir, I can put on a few spikes that will keep them off." "No; to me a thousand scratches on my carriage would be more welcome than one on the hand of a footsore lad, to whom a stolen lift might be a godsend."

DRIVER IS SELF-POSSESSED

When Horse Plunged Into Show Window He Collected Price Tags of Damaged Articles.

Persons who witnessed a trolley accident the other day were allured upon for a peculiar kind of testimony. A horse had plunged through the window of a small dry goods store. The struggle of the horse, the cracking of glass, the imprecations of the storekeeper and the exclamations of the bystanders combined to raise pandemonium on that corner, but in all the confusion the driver retained sufficient presence of mind to gather up the injured show window garments with price tags attached. When the excitement had died down a little he showed his tags to the most responsible looking persons in the crowd and said:

"I want you to take notice that these things have been marked down to certain prices and when it comes to settling claims for damages I shall rely upon you to testify for me in case the storekeeper boosts up the figures to what he claims was the original price. That is often done in store window smashups. Twice we have had to pay about two prices for the goods damaged because the price tags had got lost, and I don't intend to be worked that way this time."

KISSING FESTIVAL.

A great kissing occasion is the May day celebration at Helston, in Cornwall, England, known as Flora day. And some agility is required, as well as a capacity for kissing. In theory, the front and back doors of every house are supposed to be left open. The young men, and the giddy old ones, dance in at a front door at the top of a street, out at the back door, into the back door of the next house, and out at the front, into the front of the next, and out at the back, thus never passing through the same house twice. And from every woman the adventurers meet in their strange progress they may claim a kiss.

SOUVENIR FIEND PASSES.

The historic Longfellow house in Portland has closed its doors for this season, says the Kennebec (Me.) Journal. The number of visitors the last season far exceeds that of last year and the same thing remains true of this year as of former years; there has been no injury to the house, not a thing has been taken and one is surprised when told that in the ten years in which it has been open to the public there has been no damage done to any part of the house and furnishings.

FIRST ON RECORD.

"I wonder when it first struck a wife to be impertinent to her husband?"

"I guess it was in the Garden of Eden when Eve gave (apple) sauce to Adam."

Dr. Robert Bell of England Advises Only Vegetable Food, Raw or Little Cooked.

"Man is the only animal on the face of the earth who cooks his food and therefore destroys its value," Dr. Robert Bell said, in a lecture on "Man's Natural Diet." "If only we would take a lesson from wild animals by adopting the diet which nature has provided for us, we should have a better, healthier and longer life." But Dr. Bell does not advocate that mere man should imitate the tiger in the manner of his meals. "All flesh diet should be banned," he says, "and our food should consist entirely of vegetables, fruits, cereals, and these cooked as little as possible." Dr. Bell would have children brought up in this way. He believes that children would be satisfied with whole-meal bread, raw vegetables and fruit for their dinner and never crave for any other food if they were informed that it was good for their health and conducive to a green old age.

Dr. Bell strongly recommends raw peas as a delicious and a healthy dish. But he does not believe that nature intends man to eat grass; his teeth are not adapted to it. The lecturer added that every human being ought to attain an age of at least one hundred and twenty-eight years. "That there so few centenarians among us," he said, "can certainly be attributed to our going against nature's decrees."

ORIGIN OF PLAYING CARDS

It is Generally Believed That They Were Made First at Venice About 1370.

Although it is commonly reported that playing cards were invented in France in 1382 to divert Charles VI., D'Allemagne, a French writer on the subject, mentions them as being in use in Belgium in 1379, and probably something analogous to them—marked disks or counters—have been employed in the east from remote antiquity. It is now usually thought that it was in Italy playing cards were first made, about 1370, and at Venice. The attempt to connect their invention with astrology arises from the four suits and 52 cards in all, being associated in ingenious minds with four seasons and the number of weeks in the year. It does not appear likely that there was anything more associated with the cards than amusement at the first, though gambling was a vice with the Greeks and Romans long before the Christian era, and games for gain with some kinds of counters were doubtless found among them.

HERO'S NEGLECTED GRAVE.

Congressman Curtis H. Gregg is trying to induce congress to erect a suitable monument over the grave of Major-General Arthur St. Clair of Revolutionary fame, who lies in a neglected grave at Greensburg. In 1832 a plain monument of brown sandstone was erected over his grave by the Masonic fraternity of Greensburg and vicinity. The monument is fast disintegrating, and it will be but a matter of a very short time until the inscriptions will be illegible, as they are now almost obliterated. Grass and weeds are suffered to grow on his burial lot, and only occasionally is it cleared, and many have passed it by judging not that the ashes of one of America's noblest men lay near.

QUEER FREAKS IN LANGUAGE.

If one of the difficulties of learning Samoan is that each noble has a private dialect of his own, the difficulty is matched by a linguistic complication in certain other parts of Polynesia. In the Gilbert islands the men and women speak literally a different language. The difficulty of mutual intercourse is overcome by making the women use the masculine tongue when talking to the men. Among themselves it is taboo. And the men do not trouble their heads about the other.

SO EASY.

"How did you convert young Mrs. Torkins to your vote for women idea?" one suffragette asked.

"I designed a perfectly fetching campaign costume and showed it to her."

EXPLANATION.

"Why is a hand of iron in a glove of velvet so successful?"

"Because the iron is out for the steel and the velvet for the 'pile.'"

ODD BANQUET IN NEW YORK

Doctor Entertains Seventy-five Former Patients to Celebrate Anniversary of Cure's Discovery.

"In New York, where a really sociable man can eat at reunions and club meetings three or four times a day, the chance to get one more square meal should not attract attention," said the city salesman, "but I was invited to a dinner the other night that marked the birth of such a novel society that it is worth making a note of."

"The invitation was issued by a kind of quack doctor, who cured me of an attack of rheumatism. The method of treatment was new and the doctor's own invention. Counting in myself, about seventy-five persons had been invited to the feast. The doctor had cured them all in one year and he had invited us there to celebrate the anniversary of his discovery."

"We were a funny looking bunch; young and old, rich and poor, men and women. A fashion plate that should undertake to describe the costumes worn would have to include everything from shirtwaists to spangled chiffon gowns, and from hand-me-down serge suits to brand new evening clothes. Notwithstanding our apparent incongruity we mixed as easily as the ingredients of the doctor's new medicine and had a fine time."

GLASS BOTTOMS FOR SHIPS

Scheme That, It is Asserted, Will Increase the Speed and Save Coal Consumption.

If ships' bottoms were covered with glass, it is asserted, greater speed and a saving in coal consumption would be attained. The idea has been tried, but hitherto it has always been found impracticable to attach glass to the steel plates of a ship, as the expansion of the steel broke the glass after a very slight rise in temperature.

After many experiments a composition of rosin and linseed oil was adopted as the adhesive material and the difficulty of the expansion of the steel was overcome by the introduction of a thin layer of wood pulp under the glass. A patent has just been taken out in England covering the process. The patentee says that the cost of placing the glass plates on the sea-covered bottom will not exceed that of two coats of paint.

ICE IN PERSIA.

The fact that ice is plentiful and cheap makes living in Persia more pleasant than it would otherwise be, and the fact that it can be obtained at all is indicative of the ingenuity of the people of the country. The ground is so porous that water percolates through quickly. There are therefore few rivers or lakes from which ice can be obtained, and it is seldom so cold in any part of Persia that ice of a thickness suitable for packing would form under the direct rays of the sun. The Persian obtains his ice by making a shallow pool and building a high wall which will protect it from the sun. A thin layer of ice will form; this he floods at night with water, and so he goes on adding inch to inch until he can cut a block of considerable thickness.

WHEN THE CRANE BROKE.

An astounding accident occurred at Buckie, Banffshire, Scotland, a few days ago. A thirty ton steam crane, which had been used at the harbor extension works, was swinging a fifteen-ton block of concrete into position, when it collapsed owing to the pivot pinion-wheel breaking. The job was smashed, and the crane disappeared into the sea, engine and all. The engine driver saved himself by jumping, and the divers' boat, with its crew of eight, floating alongside, had a narrow escape, both from the falling mass and from swamping by the wave sent up.

HIS DESTINY.

"I wish Willie had been born a girl!"
"Why?"
"Oh, he is such a cry baby. I wish I could do something to stop his sniveling at everything that comes up."
"To stop it? Encourage it, you mean! Nature evidently intended that boy for a United States senator."—Houston Post.

LOVE.

"It is said that love never dies."
"Maybe it never does; but it frequently goes into a trance at the end of the honeymoon."

WEIGHED ON SUBWAY SCALES

People in City Have a Passion for Ascertaining Weight of All Kinds of Things.

"Grown up human beings of course predominate, but nearly everything that can be carried into a subway station is weighed some time or another on the station scales," said a subway policeman. "Babies from two weeks old and up are divested of as much of their clothing as the weather will permit and are spread out on the narrow platform to ascertain their weight. Then just as soon as anybody gets stuck with a package that he thinks is heavier than he ought to carry he weighs it. Weighing costs a cent, but it is worth a cent to find out by how many pounds he is imposed upon. People who think they have been cheated test the honesty of other folk by these scales. They even weigh packages of meat and groceries. Sometimes when I see how the weighing machine's hands jiggle I think I would sooner trust the butcher or the grocer than the scales, but everybody to his own notion."

WONDERFUL COAL PRODUCTION.

E. W. Parker, coal statistician of the United State Geological survey, says that the unofficial estimate of our coal production in 1910 is between 480,000,000 and 490,000,000 tons. The first record of output was twenty-two tons, in 1814. By 1850 the yearly production had grown to what was then considered the enormous total of 7,018,181 tons; by 1860 this figure had doubled to 14,610,042 tons. This was less than the production for Alabama alone in 1909. The centennial year of 1876 saw a production of 53,280,000 tons; in 1880, 71,481,570 tons; yet this is less than the production of Pennsylvania in 1909. In 1890 the production had jumped to 157,770,000 tons; in 1900 to 269,684,027 tons; in 1907, 480,363,424 tons; in 1909 to 460,803,416 tons. According to Mr. Parker's estimate the production for 1910 may be very near the half billion mark.

DERIVATION OF "TOWNSHIP."

Township is a compound word, the suffix "ship" being the Anglo-Saxon "scipe," signifying condition, office, profession. Compare "citizenship," "lordship," "stewardship," etc. Originally the township was the "vill," in which lived the "villain," or "country man," and also meant the community of dwellers itself. "To arouse the township," or "enroll the township" meant the rallying to their lord's banner of the people living in the township. It had, as a geographical division, its own by-laws, made by the "moot," or corporation, and subdivision of a county. There is no difference in the meaning of the prefixes Von and Van, used by the Germans and Dutch respectively.

Instead of Liquid Antiseptics or Peroxide

many people are now using Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic. The new toilet germicide powder to be dissolved in water as needed. For all toilet and hygienic uses it is better and more economical. To cleanse and whiten the teeth, remove tartar and prevent decay. To disinfect the mouth, destroy disease germs, and purify the breath. To keep artificial teeth and bridgework clean, odorless. To remove nicotine from the teeth and purify the breath after smoking. To eradicate perspiration and body odors by sponge bathing. The best antiseptic wash known. Relieves and strengthens tired, weak, inflamed eyes. Treats sore throat, wounds and cuts. 25 and 50 cts. a box, drugists.
